Be it remembered, that at the regular November term, A. D. 1885, of the United States circuit court for the western district of Texas, at San Antonio, in said district, held in the city of San Antonio, before the Hon. E. B. Turner, judge of said court, the following proceedings were had therein, in the case of the United States, plaintiff, against John L. Haynes, Mrs. Richard King, Mifflin Kennedy, and Francisco Yturred, defendants, to recover from John L. Haynes on his official bond as collector of customs for the district of Brazos de Santiago, 2401, and his sureties, the sum of six hundred and thirty-four $\frac{60}{100}$ dollars, alleged to be due to the United States.

2 Letter of Commissioner of Customs to the Solicitor of the Treasury.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS,
Washington City, D. C., May 23d, 1885.

SIR: I have the honor to herewith transmit an authenticated transcript of the official bond of John L. Haynes, as collector of customs for the district of Brazos de Santiago, in the State of Texas, dated April 1, 1880, also an authenticated transcript of his account as collector and disbursing agent for expenses of collection from July 1st, 1882, to June 8th, 1884, when his official duties ceased, and of the official reports thereon.

There is due from the late collector on account of expenses of collection, as shown by report and statement No. 92120, $634.60, for the recovery of which you are requested to cause legal proceedings to be instituted.

By reference to statement No. 92120 you will observe a statement of difference made in adjusting the late collector's account, one item of which is a disallowance of amount overcharged by him for storage compensation, i. e., $648.90, for the period commencing July 1st, 1882, and ending June 8th, 1884.

The late collector claims an allowance for this sum, which is part of his collections for drayage and labor charged against goods which were 3 stored in the public store at Brownsville, Texas. He charged this amount to make up his maximum compensation from storage at the rate of $2,000 per annum, and claims that such receipts should be accounted for as charge.

The building in which the goods were stored is not what is known as a bonded warehouse, but as a public store, and having been rented by the United States to be used as a custom-house, the whole amount of storage accruing has been allowed to late Collector Haynes without deduction for rent, the building having been treated as if owned by the Government and the storage compensation allowed in view of the opinion of the Attorney-General, dated June 12, 1876. (Opin. 117.)

A bonded warehouse is one owned or managed by a private citizen, and used for the storage of imported merchandise. Before a building so owned or managed can be used for the storage of imported goods, the owner or manager must give bond to the United States to save them from expense or loss arising from the fact that the goods are so stored.

The actual storage is a question between the owner or manager of the warehouse and the party owning the goods, with which the United States does not interfere further than to see that storage is not charged beyond the rates usual in the place where the bonded warehouse is situated.

In order, however, to assure the protection of the rights of the 4 United States in relation to the collection of duties a person is appointed as store-keeper by the collector with the approbation of the Department, who has joint custody with the owner and manager of the warehouse and whose duty it is to see that no goods are received into, or delivered therefrom except under order of the collector of customs.

The salary of this store-keeper is paid by the United States.

A sum equal to this disbursement on the part of the Government is collected from the owner or manager of the bonded store, and is the identical kind of collections which the court in the case of U. S. vs. McDonald (5 Wallace, 647) declared were to be treated as storage and are the occasion of the words "or for custody of goods in bonded warehouses" in the act of July 18, 1866, sec. 4014, Stat. 187, and which are reproduced in section 2647, R. S.

There were no bonded stores or collections of this kind in Mr. Haynes district.

A public store is a warehouse owned or rented by the Government, in which imported merchandise, bonded or not, may be stored, and is under the sole control of the Government, and all charges for storage are collected by the collector of customs and are accounted for in his accounts.

In addition to storage there are usually other charges against the goods stored, as drayage from the vessel to the store-house, labor in loading and unloading, repairing packages in which goods arrive so as to 5 prevent loss, such as cooperage for wet goods and nails for straps for dry. These charges are in public stores paid by the United States, and charged against the goods, and collected from the owners of the goods, or if the goods are sold against the proceeds of sale.

Until this claim arose, no collector has ever construed these incidental expenses to be storage, nor has compensation been allowed from money so accruing.

I am not aware of any law under which such receipts may be considered storage.

I inclose herewith a statement showing the collections made by the late collector, John L. Haynes, on account of storage, drayage, and labor, the amount charged for storage compensation, the amount allowed and the differences.

Very respectfully,

JOHN S. MCCALMONT,
Commissioner.

To the SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY.

8 Original Petition.—Filed July 3d, 1885.

In the honorable United States circuit court for the 5th circuit and western district of Texas, holding sessions in the city of San Antonio at its November term, A. D. 1885.

To their honors the judges of said court:

Now comes the United States of America, plaintiff, by her attorney, A. J. Evans, U. S. attorney for the western district of Texas, and complaining of one John L. Haynes, late collector of the United States customs for the district of Brazos de Santiago and State of Texas, and who is a resident citizen of the State of Texas and of the county of Webb, in said State, and of the western district of Texas, and subject to the jurisdiction of this court, and also of one Mifflin Kennedy, who is a resident citizen of the county of Nueces and State of Texas and western district of Texas, and also one Mrs. Richard King, widow of the late Richard King, deceased, who is a resident citizen of the county of Nueces and western district and State of Texas, and one Francisco Yturrid, who is a resident citizen of the State of Texas and the county of Cameron and the western district of Texas, and the Brownsville division of said court, defendants herein, and so complaining, would most respectfully represent that the said John L. Haynes, having been duly appointed collector of the customs of the 9 United States of America for the district of Brazos de Santiago and State of Texas, did as a principal, with the said Mifflin Kennedy and one Richard King and the said Francisco Yturrid as sureties, make and execute and deliver to the plaintiff their joint and several penal bond in the sum of thirty thousand dollars, dated the first day of April, 1880, and accepted, approved, and filed the day of , 1880, by plaintiff, which said aforesaid bond and obligation, among other things, is and was conditioned as follows, to wit, substantially:

* * * Whereas the President of the United States hath, pursuant to law, appointed John L. Haynes to the office of collector of customs for the district of Brazos de Santiago, in the State of Texas; now, therefore, if the said John L. Haynes shall truly and faithfully execute and discharge, and shall continue truly and faithfully to execute and discharge all the duties of the said office, according to law, then the above obligation to be void and of none effect, otherwise it shall abide and remain in full force and effect.

| FRANCISCO YTURRID. | [SEAL.] |

Plaintiff avers that the said John L. Haynes, by virtue of his said office and appointment as collector aforesaid, and under said bond aforesaid, did enter upon the discharge of his duties as collector of customs and disbursing agent for expenses of collection from July 1, 1880, and 10 continued in the discharge of his duties as such until the close of his services as such collector and disbursing agent on the 8th day of June, A. D. 1884.

Plaintiff now comes and says that the said John L. Haynes, collector aforesaid, did not, during the term of his said office as collector of customs of the district of Brazos de Santiago, from the 1st day of April, 1880, to the 8th day of June, 1884, and as disbursing agent for expenses of collection from July 1, 1882, until close of his official term on 8th day of June, A. D. 1884, well, truly, and faithfully execute and discharge all the duties of the said office of collector of customs and disbursing agent of the expenses of collection, as he is and was bound to do by virtue of his said bond aforesaid, and that a breach of the conditions of said bond of April 1st, 1880, has occur'ed, and that an action at law on said breach of said bond has occur'ed to plaintiff against the said Haynes as a principal, and the said Mifflin Kennedy and the said Richard King and the said Francisco Yturrid as sureties, for damages in the sum of six hundred and thirty-four dollars and sixty cents ($634.60); wherefore this suit.

And plaintiff assigns as a breach of said bond that the said John L. Haynes, collector as aforesaid, did, from and after the said 1st day April,

1880, until the close of his official term under said bond of date April 1, 1880, by virtue of his office, as collector of customs aforesaid, receive, take in, and collect large sums of the public moneys of the plaintiff
11 from the customs and from sources connected therewith, and did receive, take in, and collect large sums of the public money of the plaintiff, by virtue of his agency and powers as a disbursing agent of the expenses of collections of said custom district of Brazos de Santiago, and all of which said sums so received he, the said John L. Haynes, was and is bound to pay by law to the plaintiff, and he and his said sureties bound by their bond to pay to plaintiff, but of said sums so collected and received by him, the said John L. Haynes; he, the said John L. Haynes, has withheld and now withholds from plaintiff, and has failed to pay over and now fails to pay over to plaintiff, though often heretofore demanded, the sum of six hundred and thirty-four dollars and sixty cents ($634.60), to the great injury and damage of plaintiff.

Plaintiff avers that upon a full, fair, and complete adjustment of the accounts of the said John L. Haynes as collector of customs, and agent for the disbursement of the expenses of collection, of the district of Brazos de Santiago with the United States of America, there is and was found in the books of the Treasury of the United States of America a Treasury balance in plaintiff's favor of the sum of six hundred and thirty-four dollars and sixty cents, which sum is justly due plaintiff.

Plaintiff avers that Richard King, one of the sureties on said bond, is dead, and he left a widow, Mrs. Richard King, surviving him, and 12 that the said Mrs. Richard King is the legal representative of the said Richard King, deceased, and a proper party hereto.

Premises fully considered, plaintiff sues, prays for citation in terms of the law, and for a judgment against the defendants for said sum of six hundred and thirty-four dollars and sixty cents ($634.60), and for interest from date of adjustment of account, and for all costs, and for general and equitable relief, as in duty bound, &c., &c.

A. J. EVANS,
Att'y for Pl'ff.

(Endorsed:) No. 210. United States vs. John L. Haynes, Mifflin Kennedy, Mrs. Richard King, and Francisco Yturrid. $634.60. Plaintiff. original petition.

IN ERROR TO THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS.

BRIEF FOR THE UNITED STATES.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

From the 1st day of April, 1880, till the 8th day of June, 1884, John L. Haynes, one of the defendants, was collector of customs for the district of Brazos de Santiago, in Texas. The remaining defendants are, or represent, his bondsmen.

On settlement of the collector's accounts at the Treasury, on the 19th of January, 1885, he appeared to be indebted to the United States for a balance of $634.60, which he refused to pay, claiming he was entitled to retain it on account of storage. On the settlement, he had been allowed all the storage that had been collected by him, both from public store-houses and private bonded warehouses, which amounted to $1,939.70. In addition to this, he claimed the right to retain, out of the contingent expenses paid in the first instance by the Government for drayage and labor, but upon withdrawal refunded by the importers to the Government, the amount of the balance found against him.

To recover this, suit was brought on his bond. The Government, on the trial of the case, gave the bond in evidence, and a regularly-certified statement and copy of his accounts from the Treasury Department, showing he had been allowed the whole amount of storage collected during his term, and that, after this allowance, the balance sued for was due from him, unless he had the right to apply the money paid by the Government for drayage and labor to his credit on account of storage. No rebutting evidence was given by the defendant. At the close of the plaintiff's case, jury having been waived, the court entered judgment for the defendants.

SPECIFICATIONS OF ERROR.

1. The court erred in finding that the collector had a right to retain any portion of the money paid by the Government for drayage and labor on account of compensation for storage.

2. The court erred in refusing to grant the motion of the United States attorney to enter judgment for the United States, and in entering judgment for the defendant, as stated by the bill of exceptions (Rec., p. 66).

BRIEF OF ARGUMENT.

I.

There was a prima facie case made in favor of the United States.

The United States gave in evidence the bond of the collector, as set forth (Rec., p. 60; bill of exceptions, Rec., p. 66). Also regularly-certified copies of his accounts relating to this transaction (Rec., pp. 11 to 59).

By these accounts a balance is shown to be due from the collector of $634.60 (Rec., p. 59).

Section 886 of the Revised Statutes provides:

> When suit is brought in any case of delinquency of a revenue officer, or other person accountable for public money, a transcript from the books and proceedings of the Treasury Department, certified by the Register and authenticated under the seal of the Department, or, when the suit involves the accounts of the War or Navy Departments, certified by the Auditors respectively charged with the examination of those accounts, and authenticated under the seal of the Treasury Department, shall be admitted as evidence, and the court trying the cause shall be authorized to grant judgment and award execution accordingly. And all copies of bonds, contracts, or other papers relating to, or connected with, the settlement of any account between the United States and an individual, when certified by the Register, or by such Auditor, as the case may be, to be true copies of the originals on file, and authenticated under the seal of the Department, may be annexed to such transcripts, and shall have equal validity, and be entitled to the same degree of credit which would be due to the original papers if produced and authenticated in court: Provided, That where suit is brought upon a bond or other sealed instrument, and the defendant pleads "non est factum," or makes his motion to the court, verifying such plea or motion by his oath, the court may take the same into consideration, and if it appears to be necessary for the attainment of justice, may require the production of the original bond, contract, or other paper specified in such affidavit.

In the case of The United States vs. Gaussen (19 Wall., 198–211), in passing upon the effect of such copies of accounts under the act of the 3d of March, 1797, which is carried into section 886, R. S., the court ruled:

> The act of March 3d, 1797, proceeds upon the theory that the officers of the United States shall make up the account of every revenue officer, that it shall adjust the same on its books, and that the account thus stated and adjusted shall stand as and for the sum for which such officer shall be liable to the Government. This, no doubt, is subject to correction by such competent evidence as may be produced. In other words the statement is prima facie evidence only, not absolute and conclusive.
> In furtherance of this idea, it is the duty of the Comptroller at once to institute suit for the recovery of the balance thus found and stated. A second result, and one indispensable to the existence of the theory, is that the books shall be evidence of the truth of the amounts thus stated and declared to be due to the United States. The act, therefore, provides that a transcript from these books and proceedings shall be admitted in evidence, and that thereupon the court is authorized to proceed to judgment and execution. * * *

> The statute says that a transcript from the books shall be admitted as evidence. A transcript or a transcribing is substantially a copy. A copy from the books and not of the books shall be admissible in evidence. An extract from the books—a portion of the books, when authenticated to be a copy—may be given in evidence. While a garbled statement is not evidence, or a mutilated statement, wherein the debits shall be presented and the credits suppressed, or perhaps a statement of results only, it still seems to be clear that it is not necessary that every account with an individual, and all of every account, shall be transcribed as a condition of the admissability of any one account. The statement presented should be complete in itself—perfect for what it purports to represent—and give both sides of the account as the same stands upon the books.

See also Hoyt vs. United States (10 How., 132 and 133); United States vs. Eckford (1 How., 250).

In this case there was no rebutting or parol evidence. The certified copy of the bond and the accounts, with the balance struck thereon, shown by the legal written evidence, made out a clear prima facie case for the decision of the court in favor of the United States.

II.

The defendant had no right to retain on account of storage the balance of $634.60 shown by the copies of accounts to be due to the United States.

The claim of the defendant is set forth in the second paragraph of his plea (Rec., p. 65), as follows:

> And further answering defendants say that defendant John L. Haynes is entitled by law to retain the sum herein sued for, $634.40, which he has retained, and which item plaintiff claims is overcharge on storage.

Section 2647 of the Revised Statutes provides:

> Every collector of customs, every naval officer, and every surveyor performing or having performed the duties of a collector shall render a quarter-yearly account, under oath, to the Secretary of the Treasury, in such form as the Secretary shall prescribe, of all sums of money by each of them respectively received or collected for fines, penalties, or forfeitures, or for seizure of merchandise, or upon compromises made upon any seizure, or on account of suits instituted for frauds against the revenue laws, or for rent and storage of merchandise, which may be stored in the public store-houses, and for which a rent is paid beyond the rents paid by the collector or other such officer; or for custody of goods in bonded warehouses; and if from such accounting it shall appear that the money received in any one year by any collector, naval officer, or surveyor, on account and for rents and storage, and for fees and emoluments, shall in the aggregate exceed the sum of two thousand dollars, such excess shall be paid by the collector, naval officer, or surveyor, as the case may be, into the Treasury as public money.

This section authorized the collector to retain all the storage collected by him in excess of the rent paid, not exceeding $2,000 in any one year.

The defendant in this case retained not only all the storage, but also $634.60 more than all the storage, which sum he had received from the United States for contingent expenses, and which he paid for drayage and labor, and which was paid back to him by the importers. This is shown by the copies of accounts certified by the Treasury. This can most conveniently be verified by an examination of the statement, (Rec., p. 3) which is compiled from the evidence, Exhibit A.

In that statement the first column exhibits the whole storage received from Government store-houses, rented or owned, amounting to a total of $1,852.20. The fourth column exhibits the total storage received from private bonded stores. The sixth column shows the amount of storage allowed the collector by the officers of the Treasury on the statement of his accounts, and is made up by adding together the amounts of the first and fourth columns, to wit, $1,852.20, total of the first column, and $87.50, total of the fourth column; making an aggregate of $1,939.70. The fifth column shows the amount for which the collector claims credit for storage, the total being $2,588.60. The seventh column shows the difference between the amount claimed and the amount allowed, which is the amount for which suit is brought.

The last balance struck in the original copies, from which the statement is compiled (Rec., p. 59), gives this difference to be $634.60, instead of $648.90. If it is desired to test the accuracy of the statement by the original copies—if the month of April, 1883, in the statement be taken as an illustration—the amount charged by the collector for storage is found on page 31 of the record to be $164.80. The amount of storage actually received for that month is shown on page 32 to be $6.10. For the month of May the amount charged (Rec., p. 32) is $170.40; the amount actually collected for storage (Rec., p. 33) is $39.30. A comparison of each item of the account in the same way will substantially verify the statement. An analysis of the evidence thus shows conclusively that the collector retained $634.60 more than all the storage received by him. This was retained from the amount paid by the Government for drayage and labor, which the importers, on removing the goods, paid back to the collector.

In the conduct of the businsss of a custom-house the mode adopted is substantially as follows:

The collector receives from a Government depository money on account of contingent expenses, with which he is charged. From this fund, in the first instance, he pays the drayage and labor necessary to place the imports in the store-houses. He then, when he renders his accounts, claims credit for the money paid for these purposes, which is allowed in his account. His credits and his debits, so far as this item is concerned, are thus balanced, and the money advanced by the Government, unless repaid, would be lost. But, when the importer removes the goods from the store-houses, the collector is required on the part of the Government to charge up and receive from the importer the money paid out for drayage and labor. This is paid back to the collector, and belongs to the Government.

The money thus paid back, which had originally been paid by the Government, is then required to be accounted for to the United States. In this case the collector claimed, because the whole amount for storage did not reach the maximum of $2,000 a year, he might rightfully retain the money paid for drayage and labor on account of storage, thereby treating the drayage and labor as received on storage. This is claimed to be wrong.

(1st) In the administration of the customs revenue laws, the drayage and labor have never been before regarded or treated as storage, nor until this claim was made had any collector construed them as such.

The act allowing storage to the collector was passed in 1841. For forty-two years departmental interpretation in the administration of the law has been uniform, and drayage and labor have been, when paid back by the importers to the collector, accounted for and returned to the Government.

On this subject the Commissioner of Customs in his letof the 23d of May, 1885 (Rec., pp. 1 and 2, states):

> Until this claim arose no collector has ever construed these incidental expenses to be storage, nor has compensation been allowed from money so accruing.
> I am not aware of any law under which receipts may be considered storage.

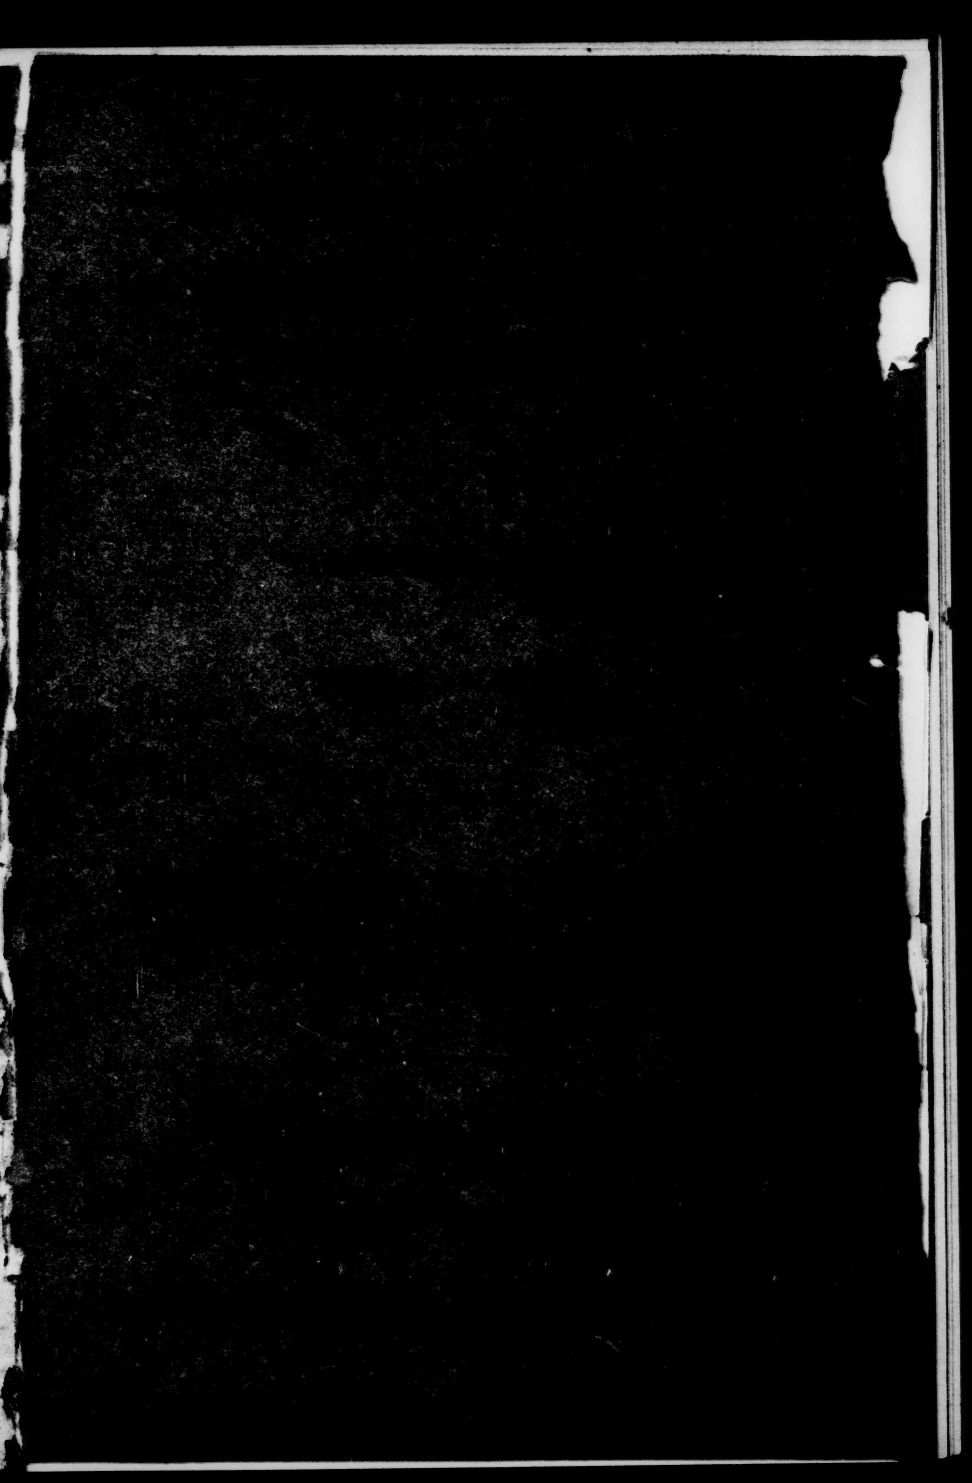

This uninterrupted usage is entitled to great weight in the interpretation of the word "storage." (U. S. vs. Gilmore, 8 Wall., 330.)

(2d.) The collector in rendering his accounts shows that he regarded drayage and labor as distinct from, and not embraced in, the word "storage." (See Rec., pp. 15, 16, and 18, etc.)

(3d.) The source from which the storage is derived is entirely different from that from which the drayage and labor come. The former is paid by the importer and not by the United States. The latter is paid by the United States, and the money paid by the United States is only refunded by the importer. If the collector be allowed to retain it, he is recovering that amount of money directly out of the Treasury of the United States. In that event he would simply draw it out of the Treasury for his own use. In no possible view can it be called "fees." The act of 1841 (sec. 2647 of the Revised Statutes) is fully reviewed and considered in the cases of the United States vs. Walker (22 How., 299,) and United States vs. McDonald (5 Wall., 647). The conclusions reached in those cases are entirely consistent, so far as applicable, with the rule of administration uniformly prevailing in the Department.

G. A. JENKS,
Solicitor-General.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

This is a suit brought by the plaintiff in error against John L. Haynes, in the United States Circuit Court for the Western District of Texas, to recover a balance of some $634, alleged to be due the United States upon settlement of John L. Haynes' accounts as Collector of Customs for the District of Brazos de Santiago, Texas. The United States claims that this amount belongs to it, and John L. Haynes claims that, under the laws, he is entitled to retain it as one of the emoluments of his office.

This difference of opinion arises from the difference of construction put upon Sec. 2647 Revised Statutes U. S., by the parties, plaintiff and defendant.

This sum of $634 sued for, was collected by John L. Haynes on acconnt of drayage and labor on bonded goods in the bonded warehouse at Brownsville, Texas, and was by him retained as part of the $2,000 allowed him by Section 2647 R. S., while the plaintiff in error claims that this $2,000 shall be made up wholly out of "storage of bonded goods," and does not apply to items of "labor and drayage on bonded goods."

The case was tried before the Court without a jury, both parties having waived a jury, in writing, and decided in favor of the defendant, John L. Haynes.

Plaintiff excepted to the judgment of the Court, and sued out his writ of error to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The only assignment of error is, that the Court erred in giving judgment in favor of defendant.

BRIEF AND ARGUMENT.

Defendant in error pleads to the jurisdiction of this Court, as the matter in issue is less than five thousand dollars, and the case should, for this reason, be dismissed.

AUTHORITY.

United States vs. McDowell,

It was contended, in the Court below, that plaintiff was entitled to a writ of error, by virtue of the third clause or sub-division of Sec. 699 R. S., which provides for writ of error, regardless of amount involved, from "any final "judgment of a Circuit Court, in any civil action against "any officer of the revenue, for any act done by him in "the performance of his official duty," &c.

An inspection of this statute clearly discloses the fact that this refers to suits against revenue officers by parties feeling themselves aggrieved by his official action in exacting duties, making seizures for violation of revenue laws, and such like actions, and it cannot be successfully constructed so as to embrace a suit on an account between the United States and one of its officers.

There was no error in the judgment of the Court below in finding that the defendant, John L. Haynes, was entitled to retain the amount sued for as part of his official emolument, on account of storage.

Section 2647 provides that every collector of customs shall render a quarter-yearly account, under oath, to the Secretary of the Treasury, in such form as the Secretary shall prescribe, of all sums of money, by each of them respectively received or collected, for rent and storage of merchandise which may be stored in the public store-houses, for which a rent is paid beyond the rents paid by the collector or other such officer; and if from such accounting it shall appear that the money received in any one year, by any collector, on account and for rents and storage, and fees and emoluments, shall in the aggregate exceed the sum of two thousand dollars, such excess shall be paid by the collector into the treasury as public money.

By this it will appear, that the collector is entitled to retain out of the receipts of moneys "on account and for rents and storage, and for fees and emoluments," two thousand dollars per annum.

This section 2647 is the old law of 1841, (supplemented by the act of July 18, 1866) which has twice been construed by this Court, first in U.S. vs. Walker, 22d Howard, 299, and second in U.S. vs. Macdonald, 5th Wallace, 647.

The exact point in issue here was in neither case exactly decided, viz: whether the clause "and for rents and storage and for fees and emoluments," included the amounts collected for "drayage and labor," but by analogy it certainly did so decide, for this Court in passing upon the question in U. S. vs. Macdonald, 5th Wall 647, as to what is included in the two thousand dollar item, clearly decides that the salary of inspectors in charge of bonded warehouses shall be considered as an item of "storage," and in constructing the 40th section of the Act of July 18, 1866, says on page 649,

"The fortieth section of the Act of the eighteenth of "July, 1866, provided that all moneys received by col- "lectors for the custody of goods, wares and merchandise "in bonded warehouses, shall be accounted for as stor- "age, under the provisions of the act which is the foun- "dation of the collector's claim in this case."

The defendant in error claims that under these decisions he is entitled to include in his "storage" account, all sums received for the care and custody of bonded goods in his charge, and as the custody commenced when his officers received the goods and continued until they had been exported, or withdrawn for consumption, he is entled to collect for all the time they were in his charge, and whatever he so collected should be treated as "storage," and fees and emoluments.

This Court clearly decides in the last paragraph of its decision in U. S. vs. Macdonald, above referred to, that there is no difference between goods held in a "bonded warehouse" and a "public store" so far as the question of storage is concerned.

I submit the case, and pray that the judgment of the Court below may be, in all things, affirmed.
